[NOTES]:

1. Challenger Division provides an opportunity for children with physical and development disabilities to play in an environment structured to their needs and abilities.
2. At the Teener levels, players may "swing" to help other HLL teams that may be short players provided that this does not interfere with a player's assigned team. The number and level of Teener teams may vary from year-to-year, depending on the number of participants and available coaches.
3. Teener--A (also called Suburban) is similar to an "all star" program for 15 y.o. players to play other community Teener--A teams. If sign-ups exceed number of roster positions tryouts will occur.
4. When offered, the Sr. League team is a Little League program for prospective 14-16 y.o. players. Selected players would play on their Teener-level teams and the Sr. League team with any conflicts resolved by priority to the Teener league regular season games. Sr. League must complete six or more LL games to be eligible for post-season LL tournaments. Additional costs may be incurred for players selected for the Sr. League team(s) since they will be playing for two teams under HLL Baseball.
5. Additional Fall Baseball Leagues/Divisions may be added or discontinued at the discretion of HLL Board in the best interest or benefit of HLL players, families or HLL.
